THE RAILROAD.

The railroad from Bellefonte to Lewisburg is now numbered among the certainties. We had not room last week to say any thing in regard to the meeting held in the Court House, on the 25th ult. We published the Secretaries report and with that dismissed the subject. It was a great meeting. Messrs. Blanchard, Bush, Humes, Milliken, Dr. Hale, Daniel Rhoads and others, showed their enterprise, and showed too, what could be done by men who were desperately in earnest, and who had determined that the people of Centre county, should have the benefit of another railroad whether they were willing or not. It is useless for us at this late day, to enter into an agreement to show how railroads enhance the value of real estate, how they bring the eastern market to every farmers door, and how in consequence thereof the price of labor, cattle, horses, sheep, hogs, poultry, eggs, butter &c., &c., is enhanced. The very fact that the railroad will certainly be built, has enabled Mr. Garbrick on the Boalsburg turnpike to sell his farm within the last week at $105 per acre, which two months ago would not have brought $90. So much for railroads. Farmers of Centre county, we will have more to say on this subject next week. In the mean time let us all work. Let us work for the through route. Let us work for the road no matter where it is located. It is impossible for every man to have the road at his own door. We are in favor of the location of the road to Boalsburg. Because all our material interests are at Boalsburg. We ask the people of Boalsburg to subscribe heavily to get the road to your town, and to our correspondent "Pennsvalley" we would say you cannot get the road to Boalsburg by fighting with your neighbors, or by stopping the REPUBLICAN, because your communications are overlooked.

HON. WM. H. ARMSTRONG.

We are happy to inform our readers that our member Hon. Wm. H. Armstrong, won golden honors for himself before the 41st Congress came to a close. Last week we published for the benefit of our readers the "Joint Resolution" in regard to the Civil Service offered by Mr. Armstrong, which settles that question for years to come. Now we present to our readers the "Joint Resolution" offered by Mr. Armstrong, which as fully settles the question of making treaties with Indian tribes. Mr. Armstrong, on leave, introduced the following Joint Resolution:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United State of America in Congress assembled, That hereafter no Indian nation or tribe within the territory of the United States shall be acknowledged or recognized as an independent nation, tribe, or power with whom the United States may contract by treaty. Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to invalidate or impair the obligation of any treaty heretofore lawfully made and ratified with any such Indian nation or tribe.

This resolution, together with the Indian Appropriation Bill being before the House Mr. Sargent said, in speaking of Mr. Armstrong's resolution:

Mr. Speaker, I call the attention of the House to the fact that the contest which has now proceeded for some five or six years over the question whether the Senate had the right, or should continue to exercise the power, to make treaties with the scattered bands of Indians within our own territory has been yielded by the Senate by the result of the committee of conference now reported to the House, the Senate having agreed to that report.

I think it is a matter of congratulation for the House that this result has been attained. The consequences will be far-reaching. It will save millions of money to the Treasury. It breaks up a most improvident system, and admits the right of the House of Representatives to deal with these questions by legislation. The amendment which is incorporated in the bill, came from the Indian Committee, and was proposed to be incorporated in another bill. It was drawn, I believe, by my friend from Pennsylvania, [Mr. Armstrong.] The amendment is substantially in the language of the proposition reported by him.

Mr. Sargent made a powerful and telling speech giving great credit to Mr. Armstrong for his superior wisdom in originating this Bill, he said

This bill gives evidence of another [illegible], which is that the administration of President Grant, has been successful beyond any of its recent predecessors in securing a wise, economical Indian policy. It has reformed abuses, secured honesty, economy, and fidelity. It has put an end to Indian wars. The prayer has been answered, "Let us have peace," so far as the Indian tribes are concerned. These are the fruits of that wise Quaker policy inaugurated by the administration of President Grant, and which has been enlarged in its general scope and purpose until it has become, for the first time in the history of the Government, a truly Christian scheme of philanthropy. Soon the Indian tribes may be induced to abandon the savage life. The first step from that is to the pastoral state with its flocks and herds, and then agriculture, commerce, and manufactures. The Indians may thus in time be civilized and saved, instead of being regarded as food for destruction and fit only for extinction. A new era has dawned upon the future Indian history, and for them there is a future of civilization and peace. Now let them be gathered together in a genial climate, the Army withdrawn, and the work will be accomplished.

Mr. Sargent. I now yield for two minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania, [Mr. Armstrong.]

Mr. Armstrong. Mr. Speaker, the resolution which I had the honor to introduce early in February, and to which the honorable chairman of the committee has referred as having been embodied in the report under consideration, I am happy to believe, settled definitively the vexed and troublesome question of Indian treaties.

The right to make treaties is vested by the Constitution in the "President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate." As a power vested by the direct provision of the Constitution, it is lifted beyond the control of Congress; for it is plain that it is not competent by force of a mere law to withdraw a power conferred by the Constitution. But the right to determine who are nations or Powers with whom the united States will contract by treaty belongs to the political power of the Government, or, in other words, the law-making power. While I hold all treaties duly made and ratified by the Senate to be invoilable, I believe it to be fully competent for Congress to declare that this Government will not in the future recognize any foreign State or Power whom they may choose to designate, and where further recognition is in their judgment inimical to the national interests. Much more may they withdraw our recognition of the national character of a people in the anomalous condition of an Indian tribe. The recognition of one Government by another is a matter of political expediency as to all future contracts or treaties. We may lawfully refuse and by law declare that we will withdraw our recognition and will not hereafter recognize as a Power with whom we will contract by treaty even France or England, or any other nation whatever; and such nation would have no right to interfere with such exercise of our sovereign discretion. She could rightfully insist upon the fulfillment of all our covenant obligations already contracted, but she could not force herself upon our continued recognition beyond the limit of our own discretion. It is a question of comity and not of absolute right.

The remedy, therefore, in my judgment consists not in the denial of the right of the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties with Indian tribes, for they stand at present recognized by all departments of the Government as competent Powers, and so long as they continue to be so recognized the constitutional right to make treaties with them is beyond legislative control, but to withdraw our recognition of them, one and all, and the assertion by law that they shall cease hereafter to be recognized as Powers with whom we will contract by treaty. The result will be that in the future our dealings with them will be as mere domestic communities, with whom we may contract, but only with the approval of Congress. They will be contracts, not treaties. Of course, such withdrawal of our recognition would not effect the validity of any treaties already lawfully made, but there is propriety in the distinct reaffirmance of our adherence to all our treaty obligations.

With these views, I most heartily approve this report, and hope it will be adopted by the House, as it has already been by the Senate.

Mr. Sargent. I now call the previous question upon the report.

There is a hilly county in East Tennessee where the children look up the chimney to see if the cows are coming home.

It is rumored that Garribaldi is coming to this country.

IRON MANUFACTURES.

Free-trade papers often deny that American industry would be seriously injured by a repeal of protective duties. They pretend that American manufactures could be maintained without protection, and that high duties merely add to the already sufficient profits of the manufacturers. But none know better than the writers themselves that these statements are utterly false, and that upon protection depends the very existence of many of our most important branches of industry. The New York World is one of the most loud-mouthed of the journals which are continually crying out against manufacturers as monopolists who are amassing immense fortunes out of the people by means of the tariff.—But this same paper, in its issue of Wednesday, contained a significant admission against its own theory upon this subject. Referring to the tariff on iron, in discussing the effect of the coal strike on the iron-furnaces of the Lehigh and Schuylkill Valleys, the World said:

If that tariff were cut off certain blast furnaces, which cannot continue to work at pay without the bolstering up of their business by the present fictitious value of their products, would have to stop, but general benefit to the country would accrue from such a reduction of the public contribution to sustain these unnecessary and naturally unprofitable industries. The prices of iron being reduced to a rational basis, both the demand for and the price of anthracite coal would be lowered.

Here is a direct admission that the abolition of the tariff on iron would destroy that industry and largely lessen the demand for anthracite coal. Note, now, the importance of the admission. In the same article it is stated that the consumption of anthracite by the furnaces of these two valleys is not far from 1,300,000 tons per annum. If this demand were cut off the business of mining would be to that extent depressed Large numbers of miners would unquestionably be thrown out of employment, and many operators who have large amounts of capital in the business would become bankrupt; and the merchants tradesmen, and all branches of business in that extensive region would be correspondingly injured. Yet these are only some of the secondary results which would follow such a free-trade measure. The vast amount of capital now invested in the iron business would immediately become unproductive, and thousands of poor workmen who are now employed in the furnaces and rolling-mills would find the bread suddenly taken from their mouths, and starvation staring themselves and families in the face. Moreover, a dozen flourishing towns and cities in Eastern Pennsylvania—as Reading, Pottsville, Allentown, Catasauqua, and others which have been built up mainly by the iron business and its concomitant branches of trade would suffer serious depression, which, in some of them, would amount to almost utter ruin.

And yet the World calls these "unnecessary and naturally unprofitable industries," and would transplant them to England to enrich her capitalists and give employment to her workmen instead of our own.—Phila. Press.

PROMISSORY NOTES.

The late decision of the Supreme Court in this State in reference to the liabilities of the maker of a promissory note, is one to which the attention of every one doing business should be specially directed. An ordinary promissory note was filled up for the payment of one hundred dollars. After the note was made, the payee, it is asserted, added the words "and fifty," thus making it a promissory note for one hundred and fifty dollars. This note was passed into the hands of an innocent third party, who claimed the full sum named in the note. On an appeal to the Supreme Court it was decided that the drawer was liable, he having invited the fraud by his own negligence. It is well known that there is a blank space on all printed promissory notes where the amount of money to be paid is written, and that at the end of this blank space the word "dollars" is printed. The Supreme Court declared that it was negligence on the part of the drawer in not drawing a line between the written word "hundred" and the printed word "dollars," and that where such negligence existed, and there was nothing on the face of the note that showed any alteration, the drawer was liable.—The Chief Justice added that the Supreme Court deemed such a rule necessary to facilitate the circulation of commercial paper, at the same time increase the care of drawers. This rule is only to apply, however, where an alteration in not apparent on the face of the paper. —Telegraph.

CONGRESSIONAL SUMMARY.

[Special Telegraph to the Philadelphia Press.]

WASHINGTON, March 5, 1871.

THE FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

The last hours of the Forty-first Congress were marked with less of that excitement and bustle of business peculiar to such an occasion than I have seen at the expiration of former Congresses. The only measures of importance necessary to be passed towards the last days were the appropriation bills. All the great party measures, such as the "act to enforce the right of citizens of the United States to vote in the several States," had been disposed of, and on Friday evening nothing remained but the reports of conference committees on the disagreeing votes of the two houses on the various appropriation bills. To be sure, a large number of bills failed for want of time, but there are few of them of such a character that they cannot be postponed for future action.

THE LAST NIGHT OF THE SESSION.

The House kept up with its work so well that it was not compelled to hold night sessions until Friday. The Senate, as usual, was away behind, and held sessions nearly every night last week. As a consequence the members of the House were in a good condition for business on Friday night, while the Senators were so fatigued that it was with difficulty some of them could keep themselves awake, especially under the stupid speech of Garrett Davis and Eugene Casserly. Senator Cole, of California, who, in the absence of Senator Morrill, of Maine, had charge of the appropriation bills, kept them before the Senate until they were all disposed of, and would not even yield to a motion for an executive session. In this way he managed to save at least one of them, the sundry civil bill.

THE MORNING RECESS.

At early dawn on Saturday the members of both houses, having been in almost continual session for eighteen hours were pretty well exhausted. A recess was proposed and carried until ten o'clock. This was after all the appropriation bills had been passed and in the hands of the enrolling clerks. The session was then practically at an end, for no business of importance was afterwards transacted.

THE PRESIDENT,

with his Cabinet officers, reached the Capitol a little before 10 and commenced signing the bills which had passed during the night. His room was constantly crowded by Senators and members who were anxious to have him sign measures in which they were interested.

BILLS NOT SIGNED.

The following is a list of bills which failed to receive the approval of the President:

An act for the relief of purchasers of lands sold for direct taxes in the insurrectionary States.

An act in relation to the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad Company of Alabama.

An act relating to telgraphic communication between the United States and foreign countries.

A joint resolution relating to the rights of actual settlers on certain lands.

An act for the relief of Anna M. Howard.

An act granting a pension to Adam Correll.

An act for the relief George Wright.

An act for the relief of Joseph Ormsby.

An act for the relief of Mary M. Clark, widow of Leonard Clark.

CLOSING UP.

About half past eleven the House received the conference report on the bill to abolish the office of Admiral and Vice Admiral in the navy. The committee had been unable to agree. Mr. Scofield of Pennsylvania, moved that the House recede. While the yeas and nays were being called upon this motion, the hour of twelve o'clock meridian arrived. Just as the name of Michael C. Kerr was reached on the roll the Speaker's gavel came down with three ponderous raps—the signal that the House of Representaties of the Forty-first Congress was no more.

After a few farewell words, and words of thanks to the members of the old House for their courtesy and kindness towards himself, the Speaker declared the House of Reprisentatives of the Forty-first Congress adjourned without day, whereupon he immediately left the Speaker's chair. This was received with rounds of applause from the members on the floor and the spectators in the galleries. A few minutes were devoted to handshaking and farewells among the members, after which the Hon. Edward McPherson, clerk of the old House, proceeded, according to law, to organize

THE NEW HOUSE.

Mr. McPherson is a capital presiding officer, and he has had so much experience in the matter that the organization of the new House proceeded without incident worthy of note. The roll-call showed that two hundred and twenty-two members of the new House were present. This was more than a quorum, and Mr. McPherson stated that the first business in order was the election of a Speaker. Hon. Austin Blair, of Michigan, nominated Hon. James G. Blaine, of Maine, and Hon. Fernando Wood, on behalf of the Democrats, he said, nominated Hon. George W. Morgan, of Ohio. Mr. Blaine received 126 votes, and Mr. Morgan 93. Being declared duly elected Speaker of the House, Mr. Blaine was conducten to the Speaker's chair by Judge Doland, of Vermont, and Mr. Morgan, of Ohio. Hon. Henry L. Dawes, of Massachusetts, the oldest member of the House in continuous service, administered the oath of office to the Speaker.

SWEARING IN THE MEMBERS.

The members were sworn in by States, the New England deligation coming first, and the other States following in groups of three and four. When the Southern States were called five negroes one of them very black, presented themselves at the bar of the House. Their appearance caused a stretching of necks, especially on the Democratic side, and there seemed to be a good deal of curiosity to get a look a them. Unlike some of their white brethren from the Southern States, they were able to take the "iron-clad" oath without wincing. Not one of the five was required to stand aside to take the modified oath of 1868. The significance of this was that none of them had been mixed up either directly or indirectly with the late rebellion.

THE ORGANIZATION COMPLETED.

There was some little delay in admitting the delegates from Tennessee and Mississippi, owing to an alleged informality in their election. But after a speech from Mr. Kerr on behalf of the Democrats, who opposed their admission, and one from Mr. Bingham, on behalf of the Republicans, these members were sworn in.

DRAWING FOR SEATS.

By general consent, Mr. Dawes, of Massachusetts, the oldest member of the House in continuous service, was allowed to select his own seat before the drawing took place. He chose the seat he occupied in the Thirty-ninth Congress, when he was chairman of the Committee on Elections. Judge Kelley and Mr. Harmer were fortunate in securing good seats. Mr. Creeley has Mr. O'Neill's old seat. The other Pennsylvania members were not so fortunate, Sam Cox and Fernando Wood were among the last names drawn from the box, and they had to take "back seats." The negro members all have seats together in the vicinity of the seat occupied by General Banks.

IN THE SENATE

there was little of interest. When the session expired the Senate was engaged considering "a bill for the relief of the Sisters of our Lady of Mercy of Charleston, South Carolina." The Vice President, without leaving his seat, called the Senate of the new Congress to order.—The new Senators to whom no objection was made were sworn in. The cases of Messrs. Goldthwaite of Alabama, Blodgett of Georgia, and Hamilton and Reynolds of Texas, were laid on the table for future consideration. The name of Mr. Vance, of North Carolina, was not called because he is ineligible under the Constitution.

THE PROPOSED ADJOURNMENT.

The proposition of the House to adjourn on Wednesday does not meet with the approval, on second thought, that the large vote by which it was adopted would seem to indicate. The truth is the resolution was sprung upon the House by Mr. Dawes at a moment when members were not thinking, and put through without debate or explanation of any kind. A motion will probably be made on Tuesday to reconsider the vote by which the resolution was adopted. There are reasons of an important character why Congress should not adjourn so early, and the prospect is that even should the House adhere to its action of Saturday, the Senate will refuse to concur.

Senator Morton and General Butler had a long interview with the President to-night, relative to the proposed adjournment of Congress. The President informed them that he was opposed to Congress adjourning without passing some measure for the suppression of the Kuklux, and the protection of loyal and peaceable citizens.

THE ADJOURNMENT A DEMOCRATIC MOVEMENT.

It will be remembered that in the democratic caucus which met on Thursday last to nominate officers of the House, a resolution was adopted pledging the democrats in the House to vote for an adjournment at the first opportunity, and if no opportunity offered they were to press it.

THE REPUBLICAN SENATORS

will hold a session to-morrow for the purpose of considering the question of adjournment, and also to arrange the committees of the Senate for the new Congress. At the caucus the alarming condition of affairs in the States will be fully discussed, and it is believed a resolution will be adopted pledging the Republicans in Congress to remain in session long enough to complete the investigation now in progress, and to pass some measure for the suppression of the Kuklux and the protection of life and property at the South. This is regarded by the ablest men of the party as absolutely necessary.

For the REPUBLICAN.

BELLEFONTE, PA., March 2d, 1871.

TO DR. E. J. DESHLER AND OTHERS:

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to lay before you, a short report of our survey for the Railroad from the Forks of Penn's Creek by way of Millheim to Spring Mills.

Commencing at station 1898, the located line of Mr. Leuffer, at the Forks of Penn's Creek. The line crosses Penn's Creek with a bridge of 109 feet span, to the point of hill on Pine Creek, where it follows the side-hill along the creek to "Longes House" on the bank of the creek, crossing this with a bridge of 75 ft. span. The line passes Dutweilers, and then through a point of hill with a cut of about 15 feet, to Swartz' Sawmill; thence to the "Brick Mill" below Millheim, (crossing the creek twice); thence it leads to the left through the natural draft by way of Daniel Keen's farm to the summit at Salem Church.

The length of the route is 5½ miles.

Maximin grade—50 ft. to the mile.

At this point, (summit) a cut of eighteen feet will have to be made for 2000 feet, thence the line will follow the right side of the valley, along the hill to Penn's Creek at Spring Mills, where it crosses the creek below the dam—left of Robert H. Duncan's house—to a point of hill on Sinking Creek, where it crosses, and would connect with Mr. Leuffer's line.

The length of this line would be about 2½ miles.

Maximin Grade—60 feet per mile.

Making the whole line about 8 miles.

In the location and construction of this line from the summit to Spring Mills, or Sinking Creek, there would be, at the Run, one mile from the summit, a bank 56 feet high, 400 feet long; at Penn Hall a bank 36 feet high, 400 feet long: at Duncan's Mill, crossing Penn's Creek, a bridge and Trestle Work 15 feet above the creek and 600 feet long.

It will scarcely be necessary to occupy your attention with a recapitulation of information already in your possession, relative to the line surveyed. Nor am I prepared, at this time, to enter into a comparison between this and the Penn's Creek route as run by Mr. Leuffer, as I am not in possession of sufficient information relative to it, to warrant an expression either for or against. I suppose the data to be correct, from which the above results are obtained, and I hope they may prove satisfactory to all.

I remain, yours, &c.,

W. P. MACMANUS, Engineer.

THE Montgomery (Ala,) State Journal, argues that the result of the late election in that State is no indication of the end of the mission of the Republican party in Alabama. During the two years of Republican rule the State prospered; its railroads were extended in every direction, and internal improvements of all kinds were effected on almost every hand. The Republicans are organizing all over the State. A central Republican club has been formed at Montgomery, under the presidency of Judge Scoffold, of Salma, and auxiliary clubs are organized in almost every county. What has been the good fortune of Alabama under Republican rule will be true of every other Southern State. What the South just now needs is the administration of her public affairs by the party of common schools and of free discussion.

TEACHING PUBLIC SCHOOL.

Forty little urchins,
Coming through the door,
Pushing, crowding, making
A tremendous roar,
Why dont you keep quiet?
Can't you mind the rule!
Bless me this is pleasant,
Teaching Public School!

Forty little pilgrims,
On the road to fame!
If they fail to reach it,
Who will be to blame?
High and lowly stations—
Birds of every feather—
On a common level,
Here are brought together.

Dirty little faces,
Loving little hearts,
Eyes brim-full of mischief,
Skilled in all its arts.
That's a precious darling!
What are you about!
"May I pass the water?"
"Please, may I go out?"

Boots and shoes are scuffing,
Slates and books are rattling,
And in the corner yonder,
Two pugilists are battling,
Others cutting dilloes—
What a botheration!
No wonder we grow crusty,
From such association!

Anxious parents drop in,
Merely to inquire
Why his olive branches
Do not shoot up higher,
Says he wants his children
To mind their p's and q's,
And hopes their brilliant talents
Will not be abused.

Spelling, reading, writing,
Petting up the younger ones,
Fuming, scolding, fighting,
Spurring on the dumb ones,
Gymnasts, vocal music!
How the heart rejoices
When the singing comes to Cultivate the voices!

Institutes attending,
Making our reports,
Giving Object Lessons,
Class Drills of all sorts,
Reading dissertations,
Feeling like a fool—
Oh, the last of blessing
Of the Public School.

Corpulent Director,
Looking in the door,
Says it's his opinion
Children are a "bore"
Remarks about the weather—
Thinks its rather cool,
And hopes you find it pleasant
Teaching Public School.

Superintendent's visage
Very rarely seen—
His are angels visits,
"Few and far between."
But, mid all vexations,
If you'll just keep cool,
Then you'll find it pleasant
Teaching Public School.

THE BEST WIFE IN THE WORLD.

"The best little wife in the world!" said Herbert Ainscourt.

"Of course—I dare say," responded Mr. Porteross. "But what is your exact idea of the best wife in the world? Jones says he's got the best wife in the world because she keeps his stockings darned, takes him to church three times of a Sunday, and never lets him have an idea of his own. Jenkins says he's got the same identical article; but Jenkins' wife keeps all the money, draws his salary for him, and makes him live in the back kitchen, because the parlor is too good for the family to use." "O! But Daisy isn't a bit ogerish—a little submissive, soft-voiced thing, that hasn't an idea except what is reflected from me. I tell you what, old fellow, I'm the master of my own house; I come when I please and go when I please. Daisy never ventures on a word of reproach."

"Then you ought to be ashamed of your larking around at the club as you do, dissipated bachelor fashion."

"Ashamed! What of?"

"Why, I suppose you owe some duties to your wife?"

"Where's the harm? My wife doesn't care."

"Probably you think so because she is quiet and submissive; but if she were to object—"

"Object! I'd like to hear her try it."

"Now, look here, Aincourt, your wife may be a model wife, but you certainly are not a model husband. People are beginning to talk about the way you neglect that pretty little blue-eyed girl."

"I'll thank people to mind their own business. Neglect her, indeed! Why, man, I love her as I love my own soul."

"Then why don't you treat her as if you did?"

"O, come, Porteross, that question just shows what a regular old bachelor you are. It won't do to make too much of your wife, unless you want to spoil her."

Mr. Porteross shook his head.

"That sounds selfish. I don't like the ring of that metal."

And he went away, leaving Mr. Ainscourt to finish his game of billiards at leisure.

"What a regular old fuss-budget Portcross is," laughed the latter. "Always poking his nose into somebody else's business. There's one comfort—I never pay any attention to what he says."

Meanwhile Mrs. Ainscourt was sitting alone in her drawing-room, her two little white hands tightly locked in one another, and her fair head slightly drooping—a delicate little apple blossom of a woman with blue wistful eyes and curly flaxen hair, looking more like a grown-up child than a wife of twenty-one summers.

"O, dear!" sighed Daisy. "It is so dull here. I wish Herbert would come home. He never spends any time with me now-a-days, and I practice all his favorite songs, and read the newspapers, so I can talk about the things he's interested in, and try so hard to be entertaining. It's very strange."

And then her oval face brightened into sudden brilliance, and the sparkles stole into her eyes, for her quick ear had detected her husband's footstep on the stairs. The next moment he came in.

"Well, pet, how are you" with a playful pinch of her cheek. There are some bonbons for you. Where are my light gloves?"

"O, Herbert! you are not going away again?"

"I must, Daisy. There are a lot of fellows going to drive to High Bridge, and I am one of the party. You can go over to my mother's for dinner, or send for one of your friends, or something. There goodbuy, puss; I'm in a deuse of a hurry."

And, with one careless kiss pressed on the quivering damask rose of a mouth that was lifted up to him, he was gone. Daisy Ainscourt neither went to her mother-in-law, nor sent for one of her girl friends. She spent the evening all alone, pondering on the shadow which was fast over growing her life.

"What shall I do?" thought the little timid, shrinking wife, "O, what shall I do?"

But, child as she was, Daisy had a strong, resolute woman's heart within her, nor was she long in coming to a decision.

"Daisy, said her husband to her, the next day, "you have not any objections to my attending the Orion Ball Masque?"

'Are masked balls nice places, Herbert?'

"O, yes, everybody goes; only I thought I'd pay you the compliment of asking whether you disapproved or not."

"Can I go with you."

"Well—ahem—not very well this time, Daisy. You see, Mrs. Frenchnrch really hinted so strongly for me to take her that I couldn't help it."

"Very well," assented Daisy, meekly; and Herbert repeated within himself the pæan of praises he had chanted in Mr. Porteross' ears. "The best little wife in the world!"

But, notwithstanding all this, Mr. Ainscourt was not exactly pleased, when, at the self-same Ball Masque, during the gay period of unmasking, he saw his wife's innocent face crowning the picturesque costume of a Bavarian peasant girl.

"Hallo!" he ejaculated, rather ungraciously, "you here?"

"Yes," lisped Daisy, with a girlish smile. "You said everybody went. And, O, Herbert, isn't it nice?"

Mr. Ainscourt said nothing more, but Mrs. Frenchurch found him a very stupid companion for the remainder of the evening.

He was late at dinner the next day; but, late as he was, he found himself more punctual than his wife, and the solitary meal was all over before Mrs. Daisy tripped in with her cashmere shawl trailing over her shoulders, and her dimple cheeks all pink with the fresh wind.

"Am I behind time? Really, I am so sorry? But we have been driving in the park, and—"

We! Who are we? growled her husband.

"Why Colonel Adair and I—the Colonel Adair you go with so much."

"Now, look here, Daisy!" ejaculated Mr. Ainscourt, rising from the table and pushing back his chair, "Adair is'nt exactly the man I want you to drive with.'

"But you go everywhere with him."

"I dare say—but you and I are two different persons."

"Now, dear Herbert," interposed Daisy willfully misunderstanding him, "you know I never was a bit proud, and the associates that are good enough for my husband are good enough for me. Let me give you a few more oysters."

Ainscourt looked sharply at his wife. Was she really in earnest, or was there a mocking under current of satire in her tone? But he could not decide, so artless was her countenance.

"I'll talk to her about it some time," was his internal decision.

"Daisy," he said, carelessly, when dinner was over, "I've asked old Miss Merbert to come and spend the day with you tomorrow."

"O, have you? I'm sorry, for I am engaged out to morrow."

"You! Where?"

"O, at Delmonico's. I've joined a woman's club, and we meet there to organize."

"The deuse take woman's clubs!" ejaculated the irate husband.

"Of course I don't believe in them but it's the fashion to belong to a club, and such a nice place to go to evenings. I am dull here evenings, Herbert."

Herbert's heart smote him, but he answered, resolutely:

"I beg you will give up this ridiculous idea, What do women want of clubs?"

"What men do, I suppose."

"But I don't approve of it at all."

"You belong to three clubs, Herbert."

"That's altogether a different matter."

"But why is it different?"

"Hem—why? because—of course anybody can see why—it's self evident."

"I must be very blind," said Mrs. Ainscourt, demurely, "for I confess I can't discover, the essential difference."

"Herbert Ainscourt said no more, but he did not relish the change that had lately come over the spirit of Daisy's dream.

She did cnange, somehow. She went out driving, here, there, and everywhere. He never knew when he was certain of a quiet evening with her; she joined not only the club, but innumerable societies for a thousand and one purposes, which took her away from home almost continually. Mr. Ainscourt chafed against the bit, but it was useless. Daisy always had an excuse to plead.

Presently her mother-in-law bore down upon her, an austere old lady in black satin and a chestnut brown wig.

"Daisy you are making my son wretched."

"Am I?" cried Daisy. "Dear me, I hadn't any idea of it! What's the trouble?"

"You must ask himself," said the mother-in-law, who believed—sensible old lady—in young married people's settling their own difficulties. "All I know is the bare fact."

"So Daisy went home to the drawing-room, where Herbert lay on the sofa pretending to read, but in reality brooding over his troubles.

"What's the matter, Herbert?" said Daisy, kneeling on the floor beside him, and putting her soft, cool hands on his fevered brow.

"The matter? Nothing much, only I am miserable," he sullenly answered.

"But why?" she persisted.

"Because you are so changed, Daisy."

"How am I changed."

"You are never at home; you have lost the domesticity which was, in my eyes, your greatest charm. I never have you to myself any more. Daisy, don't you see how it is embittering my life?"

"Does it make you unhappy? she asked, softly.

"You know that it does, Daisy."

"And do you suppose I like it, Herbert?"

"What do you mean?" he asked.

"I mean that I passed the first year of my married life in such a lonesome way. You had no 'domesticity.' Clubs, drives, billard playing and champagne suppers engrossed you whole time. I, your wife, pined at home alone."

"But why didn't you tell me you were unhappy?'

"Because you would have laughed at the idea, and called it a woman's whim. I resolved, when we were first married, to fritter away neither time nor breath in idle complaints. I have not complained. I have simply followed your example. If it was not a good one, whose fault was that? Not mine, surely."

"No, Daisy, not yours."

"I don't like this kind of life," went on Daisy. "It is a false excitement—a hollow diversion; but I persist in it for the same reason, I suppose, that you did—because it was the fashion. Now tell me, Herbert, whether you prefer a fashionable wife, or Daisy?"

"Daisy—a thousand times Daisy?"

"But Daisy can't get along with a theatre-going, club-loving husband."

"Then she shall have a husband who finds his greatest happiness at his own hearth stone—whose wife is his dearest treasure—who has tried the experience of fashionable life, and finds it unsatisfactory. Daisy, shall we begin our matrimonial career anew?"

And Daisy's whispered answer was "Yes."

"But what must you have thought of me all this time?" she asked him, after a little while.

"I know what I think now."

"And what is that?"

"I think," said Mr. Ainscourt, with emphasis, "that you are the best wife in the world."

Salutary Discipline.

A correspondent of the Denton "Monitor" says: "A handsome, dashing woman rode into a village in that region a few days ago, and alighted from her horse, went rapidly to a drinking saloon where a number of sovereigns were having a "high time." She singled out the finest looking man in the crowd, and walking up to him, seized him by the arm and ordered him to put down the glass he was about to drain. He dashed down the glass and rushed away; the lady followed, and finally cornered him in a billiard room.

She told him in a firm and determined voice that the place he was in, and the course he was pursuing would not answer for her husband; that he was wasting her property, and that she would no longer consent to be disgraced and impoverished by him. She demanded his pistol. She took it from him, and told him he must leave or die. He concluded to leave. She marched him out as a prisoner of war to where his horse was hitched, ordered him to mount, and in a few minutes the two were leaving town, the wife riding in the rear of her captured lord, with his six-shooter in her hand."

Mr. Isaac Solomans; a leather dealer of New York, whose wife presented him with the second batch of twins, is charged with making this remark to his family physician: "Ov you bleeze, doctor, it is petter dot a schtop be boot to dose dings. Vun bair of quince I dinks is oller riot, put more as dot ish plaid owit, don't it. Dot's vots de matter mit me. You know how it ish myself."

THE Episcopalians are ecting a beautiful church in Salt Lake City, from funds, it is believed, furnished principally by Christians in New York and Brooklyn. The dissenters from Brigham Young are also building a fine lecture room within a block of the new church.

"Well, Bridget, if I engage you. I shall want you to stay at heme whenever I wish to go out."

"Well, ma'am, I have no objections provided you do the same when I wish to go out."

GLEANINGS.

The universe never loses material or energy.

Doing good is the only certainly happy action of a man's life.

The first and worst of all frauds is to cheat one's self. All sin is easy after that.

Happiness is a perfume that one cannot shed over another without a few drops falling on one's self.

In maliciously pointing out the faults of another person, you only excite him to the discovery of your own.

The new hammer in the Bessemer steel works at Harrisburg, Pa., weighs 35,000 pounds, and cost $92,000.

Jerrold says that old bachelors are like dry wood; when they do take flame they burn prodigiously.

Every plain girl has one consolation—though not a pretty young lady, she will, if she lives, be a pretty old one.

Nature has written a letter of credit upon some men's faces, which is honored almost wherever presented.

Drink nothing without seeing it; sign nothing without reading it, and make sure that it means no more than it says.

A graveyard inscription in Kennebunk, Me., reads thus: "Poor Joe! his head is level now; it never was before."

By no means put yourself in another persons power; if you put your thumb between two grinders, they are very apt to bite.

Many a girl thinks she can do nothing without a husband, and when she gets one finds that she can do nothing with him.

Our conversation should be such that youth may therein find improvement, woman modesty, the aged respect, and all men civility.

Without virtue there can be no true happiness; but we want love joining with virtue to give us all the good which this world is capable of bestowing.

Have frank explanations with friends in cases of affronts. They sometimes save a perishing friendship; but secret discontent and mistrust always end badly.

A queer humorist, who has had a hard time of it, says: "When a man begins to go down hill, he finds everything greased for the occasion."

Don't expect an advertisement to bear fruit in one night. Like Ayer's pills, advertising will take effect, but it takes more than one night to do it.

A western editor has placed over his marriage heading a cut representing a trap, sprung, with the motto: "The trap down—another ninny caught."

In describing a new organ, a rural editor says: "The swell died away in a delicious suffocating, like one singing a sweet song under the bedclothes."

Some people are never contented. After having all their limbs broken, their head smashed, and their brains knocked out, they will actually go to law to get further damages.

A husband, two years after marriage, met an old friend, who congratulated him on his improved personal appearance, but said:

"It seems to me you have grown smaller."

"No wonder," was the reply, "ever since I saw you I have been coming down handsomely."

A Liberal Education.

That man, I think, has had a liberal education, who has been trained in youth that his body is the ready servant of his will, and does with ease and pleasure all the work that, as a mechanism, it is capable of; whose intellect is a clear, cold, logical engine, with all its parts of equal strength, and in smooth working order, ready, like a steam-engine, to be turned to any kind of work, and spin the gossamers as well as forge the anchors of the mind; whose mind is stored with a knowledge of the great and fundamental truths of Nature, and of the law of her operations; one who, no stunted ascetic, is full of life and fire, but whose passions are trained to come to heel by a vigorous will the servant of a tender conscience; who has learned to love all beauty, whether of nature or of art; to hate all vileness, and to respect others as himself.

—A fellow convicted in the Clarion County Court last week of two charges of violating the law in regard to the sale of liquor, blandly requested the Judge to suspend sentence for a few days till he could get married, as he feared his "girl" wouldn't have him after he had been in jail. His request was granted.

—A wedding was about to be performed in the Catholic church at Cory, one evening last week, when a dispatch was received from a priest in Louisville, Ky., stating that the would-be groom had a wife and family in that city. That marriage didn't take place.

Thackeray was unsurpassed as a hero-worshipper. He said: "I should like to have been Shakespeare's shoeblack—just to have lived in his house, just to have worshiped him, to have run on his errands and seen that sweet, serene face."

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAIL ROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now complete connections made,
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedy and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. Sternberg,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of Spring and Summer clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also peoplewho, instead of traveling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest price.

Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere; if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality.

RANGING FROM $6,50 to $18,00

DR. PIERCE'S ALT-EXT. OR GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

The originator of this wonderful medicine, claims to have discovered and combined in harmony more of Nature's most sovereign medical properties than was ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all Humors from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch Pimple or Eruption. Mercurial Disease, Mineral Poisons, Syphilitic and Venerial Diseases, and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scald head, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying and invigorating medicine For "Liver Complaint," Bilious Disorders and Habitual Constipation, it has produced hundreds of perfect and permanent cures where other medicines had failed.

The proprietor offers $1,000 reward for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of all the diseases for which it is recommended. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. See that my private Government Stamp, which is a positive guarantee of genuineness, is upon the outside wrapper. This medicine is Sold by Druggists at $1.50 per bottle. Prepared by R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Sole Proprietor, at his Chemical Laboratory 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y.

ROSADALIS.

THE GREAT AMERICAN health RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin diseases, Rheumatism, and all Chronic Affections of the blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens. Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says:
I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadalis as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesborough, Tenn., says:
I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

Rosadalis is sold by F. P. GREEN, and Druggists generally.

CARBOLIC TABLETS

PREPARED BY DR. WELLS.

The most important discovery of the age is this wonderful Healing and Cleansing agents for all diseases or weakness of the Respiratory organs, Sore Throat, Sudden Cold, Hoarseness, Catarrh, Asthma, Dryness of the Throat or Windpipe, diseases of the Lungs and for all irritation of the mucuous membrane.

All vocalists and public speak and sing without effort, use these Tablets, their effect in clearing the voice is simply astonishing as can be shown by numerous certificates.

Dr. Well's Carbolic Tablets

act directly on the mucuous membrane and should be promptly and freely taken in all exposure or violent change of weather, as they equalize the Circulation of the Blood and thus ward off all tendency to colds and Lung difficulty.

The proprietors would say, all first class medicines have their imitations, and they would Caution the public against imposition by having other medicines thrust upon them in place of these admirable Tablets.

TEXT OF THE BILL GRANTING PENSIONS TO CERTAIN VETERANS OF 1812.

The President has approved the act granting pensions to soldiers and sailors of the war of 1812, and the widows of deceased soldiers, passed February 14, 1871. It authorizes and directs the Secretary of the Interior to place on this pension roll the names of the surviving officers and enlisted and drafted men, including militia and volunteers of the military and naval service of the United States who served sixty days in the war with Great Britain of 1812, and were honorably discharged, and to such officers and soldiers as may have been personally named in any resolution of Congress for any specific service in said war, although their term of service may have been less than sixty days, and who at no time during the late rebellion against the authority of the United States adhered to the cause of the enemies of the Government, giving them aid and comfort, or exercised the functions of any office whatever under any authority in hostility to the United States, and who shall make oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and surviving widows of such officers and enlisted and drafted men provided, that such widows shall have been married prior to the treaty of peace which terminated said war to an officer or enlisted or drafted man who served as aforesaid in said war, and shall have re-married. This act shall not apply to any person who is receiving a pension at the rate of $8 or more per month, nor to any person receiving a pension less than $8 per month, except for the difference between the pension now received and $8 per month. Pensions under this act shall be at the rate of $8 per month, except as herein provided, when a person is receiving a pension of less than $8 per month, and shall be paid to the persons entitled thereto from and after the passage of this act for and during the term of their natural lives.

Before the name of any person shall be placed upon the pension roll under this act, proof shall be made under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Interior may prescribe, that the applicant is entitled to a pension under the provisions of the act, and any person who shall falsely take any oath required to be taken under the provisions of this act shall be guilty of perjury; and the Secretary of the Interior shall cause to be stricken from the pension roll the name of any person whenever it shall appear to him by proof satisfactory to him that such name was put upon such roll through false and fraudulent representations as to the right of such person to a pension under the provisions of this act. The loss of a certificate of discharge shall not deprive the application of the benefits of this act, but other proof of service performed and of an honorable discharge, if satisfactory, shall be deemed sufficient.

The provisions of sections twelve and thirteen of an act entitled "An act supplementary to act to grant pensions," approved July 4, 1854, and of sections two, three and four of an act entitled "An act supplementary to several acts relating to pensions," approved June 6, 1866, shall be applicable to the pensions granted by this act.

In the town of Lee, Massachusetts, there are twenty-four paper-mills, owned by twelve companies. Four streams of water flow through the town, the largest being the Housatonic river, which runs in a southerly direction through the centre and south part of the township. One company has six mills on this stream, and employs five hundred persons, whose pay amounts to $9,000 per month. Thirteen mills are situated on the smaller streams, twelve of them being on the "Goose Pond" stream, which takes its rise in the pond of that name in Tyringham, some six hundred feet above the Housatonic. Inseparably connected with paper-mills are iron-foundries for the making of paper machinery. One of these has been established in Lee for nearly thirty years.

PENNSYLVANIA is pre-eminently the railroad State. Even New York at last frankly confesses, through her eminently cautious and conservative mouthpiece, the Evening Post, that railroads foreign to this State, with shorter lines, have become powerful competitors even for the trade coming to New York from the West, and the railroad magnates of this State concede their inability to compete with these outside roads successfully."

ONLY the Chicago Post would do this: A Cincinnati law firm, Fox & Bird, have sued the editor of the Leader, of that city, for $5,000 on a libel. Foxes have holes, and Birds have nests, but what editor ever has, ever had, or ever will have $5,000.

For the REPUBLICAN.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—The "Carnival" is among the things of the past. Whatever the opinions of individuals may be as to the manner in which the whole proceedings or the various parts thereof were conducted, there appears to be but one opinion as to the general effect of this "season of folly;" viz: that we are better for having indulged in a short respite from every-day cares, and for having as it were, renewed our youth by revisiting the shrines to which our boyish tributes were wont to be paid.

The credit of the inception of this enterprise belongs to the Daily Republican of this city. It was suggested in the columns of this journal during the process of the construction of our new wooden pavement, that Pennsylvania Avenue, when paved, would afford an excellent locality for holding a carnival in honor—not as has been stated in effusions indited in an attempt to cast ridicule upon the affair of the laying of a mile of wooden pavement—but in commemoration, of the age of enterprise, improvement and public spirit which has dawned upon the city within the past few months.

With indefatigable persistency, the Republican urged the measure until those who had been lukewarm became heartily enlisted in its favor, while the original scoffers subsided into silence.

The prominent business men entered into the spirit of the affair and determined, one and all, to make it a success.

It was originally proposed to hold the "Carnival" on the 8th of January, but the contractors who laid the pavement desired to have the sand and gravel remain upon the pavement for sixty days after its completion. The time was, therefore, set for Washington's Birthday, but out of respect for the members of the denominations who observe the season of lent, Feb. 20th and 21st, were fixed upon.

Col. J. C. Andenried, of Gen. Sherman's Staff, was selected as Chief Marshal, and was assisted by a competent corps of assistants.

The programme for Monday, the 20th, consisted of trials of speed between single horses and double teams, on that portion of Pennsylvania Avenue lying between 2nd and 14th streets, West. The rules against fast driving having been temporarily suspended for the occasion, a strong force of Police were in attendence for the purpose of keeping the carriage way clear.

Col. C. M. Alexander's horses were particularly fortunate, winning in both single and double races. The Colonel will doubtless be remembered by many as commander of the 2nd Regt. D. C. Vols., during the war, and at a later date, as Postmaster of this city. The trotting lasted from 10 A. M., until 12 M.

From 12 until 1 P. M., the avenue was free to private vehicles—the outfit of Helmbold attracted much attention being a five-in-hand, the three head horses driven tandem. Prizes were awarded to the exhibitors of the best turn-out.

After 1 o'clock various sports were the order of the day—a mile foot race, a goat race (won by a goat bearing the name of "Shoo-Fly,") a wheel-barrow race of 500 yards (blindfold,) and a foot race of 100 yards. The training of the base ball fraternity showed itself in the latter race, a member of the Olympic club winning easily. The straightness of the course ran by the blindfolded winner of the wheel barrow race, is accounted for by the fact that the cunning fellow kept on the cobble-stone track of the Horse Railway.

The first part of the 2nd day's exercises were similar to those of the preceding day, but in the afternoon a "tournament" was held between 6th and 7th streets, in which 30 gentlemen, 10 from Md., 10 from Va., and a like number from the District, participated. The amusements laid down on the programme for other portions of the Avenue viz: a game of Lacrosse velocipede and sack races—with the exception of the latter did not come off. The Captain of one of the Lacrosse clubs was taken sick and died the day before the beginning of the Carnival.

Shortly after 3 P. M., the Masquerade procession took up its line of march from the Treasury to the Capitol, and return. This was decidedly the best feature of the affair and was pronounced to be a very creditable display by all who witnessed it.

The following named are some of the characters and representatives—The Lord of Misrule, Prince Carnival, squad of Minature Police, Jack the Giant Killer, and a gigantic armor-bearer, Louis Napoleon and King William, squad of Boules, Teapots, the old woman who lived in a shoe (represented to the life by a Bellefonte boy), Old King Cole, Old Mother Hubbard, Humpty Dumpty, the Police Court, 17th Amendment, Perpetual Motion, Girl of the Period, Female Soldiers, Horse Marines, Firemen &c., Victoria C. Woodhull as President, Treasury department, Indian Commissioners, Capitol on wheels and numerous Historical, Legendary and Fancy characters.

At 7 P. M., on both evenings there was a magnificent display of fireworks from the south front of the Treasury, and during the evening until 10½ P. M., the Avenue was brilliantly illuminated by calcium lights.

The throng of visitors was very great. The hotels were crowded, but all who who applied to the Carnival committee were comfortably lodged.

If nothing more than a two days rest from business was achieved we still think the purposes of the Carnival accomplished.

But it is proposed to make it an annual festival. Next year the imperfections in detail, naturally springing from inexperience, will be remedied, and we think that the ability of the American public, to hold a carnival, will then be acknowledged by every SPECTATOR.

DISSOLUTION.—The copartnership heretofore existing in the merchandising and manufacturing of Boots and Shoes &c., between John Powers and Frank McClain, trading and doing business under the name and firm of Powers & McClain, was, this day, March 6th 1871, dissolved by mutual consent. The books and accounts of the late firm are left in the possession of Mr. Powers, where all who know themselves indebted to said firm are earnestly requested to call immediately and make settlement. JOHN POWERS,
F. McCLAIN.

March 1, 1871.

The business will be continued at the old stand, opposite the Bush House by Mr. Powers, who is determined to sell Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, &c., lower than they can be bought for at any other store in the borough of Bellefonte, of like quality and kind. Try him, and if any one wants boots &c., made to order, it is generally conceded that he gets up a little neater and better article of the kind than can be procured anywhere else in this section of country. In due time he will advertise in full.

March 6, 1871. JOHN POWERS.

WALTHAM WATCHES.

The extensive use of these watches for the last fifteen years by Railway Conductors, Engineers and Expressmen, the most exacting of watch-wearers, has thoroughly demonstrated the strength, steadiness, durability and accuracy of the Waltham Watch. To satisfy that class in all these respects, is to decide the question as to the real value of these time-keepers.

More than 500,000 of these watches are now speaking for themselves in the pockets of the people—a proof and a guarantee of their superiority over all others.

The superior organization and great extent of the Company's Works at Waltham, enables them to produce watches at a price which renders competition futile, and those who buy any other watch merely pay from 25 to 50 per cent. more for their watches than is necessary.

These time-pieces combine every improvement that a long experience has proved of real practical use. Having had the refusal on nearly every invention in watch-making originating in this country or in Europe, only those were finally adopted which severe testing by the most skilful artisans in our works, and long use on the part of the public, demonstrated to be essential to correct and enduring time-keeping.

Among the many improvements we would particularize:

The invention and use of a centre pinion of peculiar construction, to prevent damage to the train by the breakage of main-springs, is original with the American Watch Company, who, having had the refusal of all other contrivances, adopted Fogg's patent pinion as being the best and faultless.

Hardened and tempered hair-springs, now universally admitted by Watchmakers to be the best, and used in all grades of Waltham Watches.

All Waltham Watches have dust-proof caps, protecting the movement from dust, and lessening the necessity of the frequent cleaning necessary in other watches.

Our new patent stem-winder, or keyless watch is already a decided success, and a great improvement on any stem-winding watch in the American market, and by far the cheapest watch of its quality now offered to the public. To those living in portions of the United States where watchmakers do not abound, watches with the above mentioned improvements which tend to ensure accuracy, cleanliness, durability and convenience, must prove invaluable.

The trademarks of the various styles made by the Company are as follows:

AMERICAN WATCH CO., Waltham, Mass.
AMS. WATCH CO., Waltham, Mass.
AMERICAN WATCH CO., Crescent St. Waltham, Mass.
APPLETON, TRACY & CO., Waltham, Mass.
AMERICAN WATCH CO., Adams St., Waltham, Mass.
WALTHAM WATCH CO., Waltham, Mass.
P. S. BARTLETT, Waltham Mass.
WM. ELLERY, Waltham, Mass.
HOWE WATCH CO., Boston, Mass.

Examine the spelling of these names carefully before buying. Any variation even of a single letter, indicates a counterfeit.

For sale by all leading jewelers. No watches retailed by the Company.

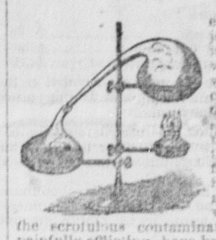
Medical.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.



The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attacks of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and a permanent cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are constantly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints; Torpidity, Congestion of Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are LANGUID and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Drunkenness and its Curses—No. 9.

BY REFORMATION.

Now that the license law, has its being in discretionary power, for such is what is claimed for it, by those in authority, let us see what that power is and from whence it comes. Is it of Divine will? Can its advocates claim any such consent? In the workings of this so called law, misery, death, destruction, and in the end final damnation of human souls is the result, consequently its advocates are not of him who advocates the cause of peace, and truth. Therefore let us examine into the meaning of this word, out of which so much authority is claimed, and whose advocates are found among those of high rank in society. I presume we will be allowed the authority of 'Webster' for the definition of words. Well he says, of discretion, 1st prudence, or knowledge and prudence, wise management, that discernment which enables a person to judge critically of what is correct and proper, united with caution, nice discernment and judgment, directed by circumspection, and primarily regarding one's own conduct, 2d Liberty of power, of acting without other control than one's own judgment—To surrender at discretion is to surrender without stipulation or terms, &c. Then in short what sort of a creature have you in discretion? If in its workings you can find authority for a law which brings misery and only misery upon us, can you claim prudence for it, can you claim wise management, can you claim caution &c. No, you dare not offer any such argument. To do so would be worse than nonsense. You profess Christ. You offer to set before us the way of life, and yet you are engaged in sowing the bitter seeds of destruction, broadcast among your fellow men. Awful as this is for contemplation it is nevertheless the truth. How long are we to stand quiet and suffer this combination of deception to practice its work of demoralization and destruction, upon us? For your discretionary power over the mandates of justice, is soon told, and is simply this. You have at discretion sold your claim upon God, and betrayed his will, and to your own condemnation you stand before the tribunal of heaven with the blood of thousands resting upon you. Well may you cry out for the rocks and mountains to fall upon you and hide you from the face of him who sits upon the throne of justice, what better are you now than the drunkard? You have deceived your own souls, as well as been the means of destruction to many a happy, or once happy home of others. But the day of retribution is at hand. Oh may God have mercy upon you. For you have sold out the religion of Christ from your hearts and have received in payment the license law. A machine got up by Satan for the destruction of innocent men, women and children that they may not enjoy comfort on earth, and that the demon of darkness may make sure of their souls, for his eternal pit of wo. Then cease from your evil doings. No longer contaminate your hands with this demon of destruction. No longer claim exemption from guilt, because you find this evil curse upon our statute book. Conscience warns you every time you execute this law what you are doing. You know it got there against every injunction of divine authority. And they who execute it, (no matter under what plea it may be done) are only bringing down the wrath of God upon their own heads, and heaping up wrath against the day of wrath.

And thus stands the advocates of this law before God and humanity. As the blind Pharisee stands, so do you. And instead of advancing the cause of religion and pure morality, you bargained with the prince of darkness for the destruction of souls. The evidence has gone forth the fruits of the license law is full and abundant. What honest minded man or woman will deny? I presume those who fill high places on earth among men, will be ever ready to look upon these articles with contempt. Be it so. Conscience will let you know in a manner far above contempt, sooner or later, the truth of them. Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall, 1st Cor. X c. v. XII. The comfort, which we enjoy in the present world so far as the world itself is concerned, is principally found in realizing the expectations which we have rationally, and habitually formed, concerning our future circumstances in life. These expectations are, of course, grounded on the habits of our parents. We expect what we are thus taught to expect, and this naturally is, that we receive such an education, and pass through life in such a manner, as is common to the children of those who are in similar circumstances. These expectations the drunken parent gradually fritters away with the gradual diminution of his estate.

The mind of the child sees, with more and more discouragement, one expected gratification vanish after another, till it ceases to expect at all, and sinks down into sullen, or broken-hearted despair. Among the evils, which children suffer, a great one is the loss of education, I mean, which is suited to their condition of life. The instructions which children receive, are a debt, which no parent can without extreme guilt refuse to discharge, and of which no child can be prevented, but by robbery, as well as fraud. They are the chief means of his future comfort, and his future usefulness. They take him out of dangers, and place him in the rank of men. They form him to wisdom, to worth, and to honor. Beyond this, they open to him the way of virtue, glory, and immortality and point to him the path to heaven. The most important of these instructions the parent is able, and therefore bound to give, the instructions especially of a moral and religious nature, which are given, and received, with incomparably the greatest efficacy in the morning of life. But what instructions can a drunkard communicate? What efficacy will there be even if the truth should be communicated, proceeding from disturbed reason, a reeling frame, and a babbling tongue? With this image before him, what child can sufficiently withdraw himself frome shame, and anguish, to learn at all? With what a contradictory and monstrous deformity of character, must religious truths and precepts be inculcated on his child by a man imbruted by strong drink?

This is no whim of the mind. Are not these deplorable facts? That parent is no longer capable of imparting sound instruction to his child; but has become a monster in his sight, and is in constant fear of its parents, and the consequence is nine times out of ten, that child grows up in vice, and ends in total destruction. And who is the real cause of that child's destruction? I answer the license law, and contradiction may come let it come, these are the facts in the case. It is true the wholesale dealer, saloon keeper, hotel keeper, and in short the vender, under whatever name he may be known, have their share of this guilt, and were instrumental in making that parent a drunkard, and caused the destruction of both parent and child; but the court granted these parties a license to do it. Now who are the most guilty? Conscience will give the true answer.

DISINTERESTED LABOR.—How few there are outside of the household that work for others to gratify an intrinsic desire to do good! Do, then, whatever there is to be done, without questioning and without calculation. Take your own skill and your own experience, and make the most of them. Do you say to yourself, "If I had money, I know what I would do with it!" No, you do not. God does, and so he does not trust you with it. "If I had something different from what I have I would work," says many a man. No; if you would in other circumstances, you would work just where you are. A man that will not work just where he is, with just what he has, and for the love of God and for the love of man, will not work anywhere, in such a way as to make his work valuable. It will be adulterated work.

FLOWERS AND MEN.—It is said that the rose of Florida, the most beautiful of flowers, emits no fragrance; the bird of Paradise, the most beautiful of birds, gives no song; the cypress of Greece, the finest of trees, yields no fruit; dandies, the shiniest of men, have no sense; and ball-room belles, the loveliest creatures in the world, generally ditto—only more so.

Two persons who have chosen each other out of all the species, with a design to be each other's mutual comfort and entertainment, have in that action bound themselves to be good humored, affable, discreet, forgiving, patient and joyful, with respect to each other's frailties and imperfections, to the end of their lives.

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S
COMPOUND FLUID
Extract Catawba
GRAPE PILLS.
Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubard and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

For Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Bilious Affections, Sick Or Nervous Headache, Costiveness Etc. Purely Vegetable, Containing No Mercury, Minerals Or Deleterious Drugs.

H

These Pills are the most delightfully pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone, and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated from the fact that sugar-coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. PRICE FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS, OF DISSIPATION, ETC.,

in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Ulcerations of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflamation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been driven up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. PRICE ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS PER BOTTLE.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

cannot be surpassed as a Face Wash, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples Spots, Scorbutic Dryness, Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels redness and incipient inflammation, hives, rash, moth patches, dryness of scalp or skin, frost bites, and all purposes for which salves or ointments are used; restore the skin to a state of purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principle claim to undounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, safety and efficacy—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent Lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA, AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended, cannot be surpassed. PRICE, ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,
Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion of Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.
Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

Wednesday Morning, March 8, 1871.

Farming on Clay Land.

Although the different clay lands are among the strongest and most enduring soils, they are often the most difficult to manage. They are getting dry enough to work in the spring and after heavy rains, and will sooner get too dry and hard to work well in the summer. Being cooler, harder and more inert, they also part less readily with their usually large store of plant food than other soils. The two principal remedies for these difficulties are underdraining and growing clover. The former takes the surplus water out of the soil, so it will get dry enough to work much sooner, and remain more loose and open when it is dry: and the clover roots, acting like a wedge, loosen and open up the soil; while both have a large tendency to let in air, warmth and the summer showers, with all of their genial and chemical influences, which have so much to do in developing and bringing into active operation the before inert plant food in such soils. At the same time these operations bring the soil into a much better condition to be readily plowed and brought into a fine state of cultivation.

In all sections adapted to the crop, probably wheat is the best grain crop to grow on clay lands. The strong, well worked clay loams, are among the best and most productive wheat soils; and few clays are so stubborn that underdraining, growing clover and thorough cultivation will not bring them into a more or less pliable loam. Summer fallowing for wheat also affords a better opportunity to work such soils to the best advantage, as the best time to plow, when they will work up fine and mellow, may be selected. The after cultivation and preparation for the seed, by having a much longer time than is possible for spring crops, may also be done to better advantage. Winter wheat is also a good crop to clover on; and after such land is drained, two or three alternate crops of wheat and clover should bring the soil into a good condition for most cereal crops. Oats also do well on clay land, and often give large yields; but the tendency of the crop is rather to make the land harder than otherwise. Perhaps all plowing for the crop, and leaving the land in a condition to be benefitted by freezing—surface drainage having been well attended to—may be an exception; at least it is probable that this is the best way to grow oats on clay soils. Heavy clay soils are not adapted to corn: but a good deal of corn is grown on the clay loams. There are also many of the heavier clay lands that, by underdraining and clovering, may be reduced to loam that will not be had for corn. It must be a pretty stiff clay that, after thorough draining and growing a few crops of clover, with a good, vigorous clover sod turned under in May and thoroughly prepared will not be in a condition to grow good corn. As a rule, and in sections suited to the crop, barley will answer where corn does well. If the land works mellow and don't bake badly, and the clover sod turned under next spring; barley sown on this preparation ought to do well.—Country Gentleman.

THE Fruit Cabinet of the Agricultural Department at Washington, D. C., contains plaster casts of the fruits from all the different sections of the United States, arranged so as to show at a glance the products of each region and the specific changes caused by transplantation. It has been ascertained, by examination of these specimens, that Northern apples, when transplanted to more Southern localities, enlarge in size, become more juicy and lucious, and aqcuire a large percentage of saccharine matterr As a drawback to these advantages, however, they lose the quality of keeping over the winter. Thus the Baldwin apples as grown in Massachusetts, is a small fruit, but as the tree is transferred through Western New York, it becomes larger and brighter in color, with an improved taste. It, however, cannot be preserved till the next spring. The snow apple of Canada, and other varieties exhibited a tendencyto shrivel up when planted south of Lake Erie. The Russian apples, recently introduced into the United States, it is thought should only be planted in the Northern parts of this country. On the walls of the Fruit Cabinet are hung diagrams, showing the character and habits of the different insects that prey upon the fruit and fruit trees of the United States, and in glass cases are preserved the native birds that feed upon these destructive insects, which should be protected by the kind treatment of the fruit culturists.

ONE hundred sea-going vessels are owned by Philadelphians.

RENOVATING OLD ORCHARDS.—Several modes are recommended how this can be successfuliy done; but we do not see how it can be more effectually done than by the one we have frequently recommended. That is to cut out all the dying wood, and three fourth of the suckers, scrape the trunk of the trees completely, remove all the old hard, broken bark; wash with a a preparation of whale oil soap and water, a pound of soap to a bucket of water; and give the orchard not merely under the trees, bnt every part of it, a heavy top dressing of good barn manure. If there is any life or productiveness left in the trees this will bring it out.

The suggestion that the trunks of the trees should be shorn of all the boughs and allowed to sucker, and some of these when large enough grafted, will prove a failure. The grafting of the ordinary suckers growing from the trunks of old trees can rarely be done with success. We tried this several times and the grafts all died at the end of the second or third year. Far better to graft the old trees whenever there is any smooth barked wood near enough to a main bough. They will not only grow, but in most cases fruit the second year, and alwaya the third year.—Germantown Telegraph.

CLOVER AND GRASS SEED.—Do you know that Ohio is the greatest clover seed producing region in America? and this production is mainly confined to a few of the raid northern counties, Wyandotte, Crawford, Allen, Morrow, Seneca, and others thereabouts. This winter the trade in clover seed is quite lively, and very much of it is sold thro' Cincinnati, Tennessee, and Georgia, and considerable quantities are sent to New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. Formerly there was a large production of cloverseed in France, but war has cut off the crop of France this season, and now American clover is going to England and Scotland.

A bushel of plaster per acre sown broadcast over clover, will add one hundred per cent to its production.

THE total number of taxable inhabitants in Centre county is 8,584.

THERE is much sickness prevailing at the present time in Nittany Valley.

HON. P. GRAY MEEK, will please accept our thanks for valuable Public Documents.

THE WEATHER.—For the past week the weather has been pleasant as April. No need for over coats during the day.

THE Howard Grammar School under the control of Prof. N. M. Frank is in a prosperous condition.

REV'S KLIEN & MILLET expect to open a school at Jacksonville in the spring. May success attend their efforts.

The use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer will keep the hair soft and glossy.

THE Baptist converts at Philipsburg, prefer being baptized in Cold Stream Creek, rather than in the pool in the church.

PHILIPSBURG almost had a fire last week. A few more and her senses will be so awakened, that in time of peace she will prepare for war.

THE Methodist revival closed a short time ago in Philipsburg, it having been the means of converting over one hundred souls. After this the morals of the town should be greatly improved.

MISS ALICE MUNSON made the members of the Philipsburg Cornet Band the recipients of a beautiful cake. B careful ye members, she is doubtless endeavoring to captivate some of you.

ESTATES of decedents who died prior to the 1st of Oct., 1870, are liable for succession and legacy tax. Persons doing business are liable for special tax on license until May 1, 1871.

THE Evangelical congregation at Jacksonville has been caring on a revival for some time. Forty-Three persons sought religion and most of them experienced it.

BRAINERD of the Tyrone Herald, was in town lately. We had the pleasure of seeing him run. What running, what jumping to make the train! He displayed a great deal of suppleness in his lower extremeties.

THE Editor of this paper took a mess of sour-kraut on monday last. Since then he has enjoyed better health than heretofore. He thinks it fully as good as apple-dumplings, and thinks he can eat as much.

SOMERSET county, has a woman in her poor house that has a live snake in her. It crawls to her mouth and sticks its head out occasionally, but when attempt is made to catch it, it shoots down her neck again.

THANKS.—Capt. Martin Dolan, Proprietor of the Curtin House, in Central City, will please accept our thanks for a nice lot of the best sour-kraut we have ever tasted. We would like to board with the Captain.

DIRTY.—The Watchman continues its dirty, low, vulgar "Ink-Slings" from week to week. What kind of patrons has that paper got? We imagine we would like to be present when the paper gets into the hands of its lady readers. Provided it has any lady readers.

FIXED FACT—It is now a fixed fact that the B. & S. S. Railroad will be made to Lemont, where it will intersect the L. C. & S. C. Railroad. These two roads when completed will be worth millions of money to our farmers mechanics and working men.

GROCERIES.—Messrs. Rhule & Gault, successors to Levi A. Miller, are doing a most excellent business. They keep the best of Groceries, Flour, Canned Fruits, Dried Fruits, Hams, Dried Beef, &c. Give them a call. Our word for it you will not rue it.

LAMB.—Mr. Benjamin Hunter, was again in town last week with more fat lamb. This time he brought one which weighed 56 lbs. It was purchased by Messrs. Houseal & Krom, Proprietors of the Brockerhoff House. Benjamin, proposes to supply the new railroad with mutton.

WELCOME.—We had the pleasure of meeting in our sanctum last week, H. O. Kline, of Bedford county. He removed to Bedford from this county some four months since to engage in the Insurance business there. We are pleased to learn that he and his partner J. M. Zimmerman, Esq., are succeeding beyond their most sanguine expectations. To the editors and people of Bedford, we would say take good care of these young men. They are jewels.

WHY IS IT?—The burning of the school house near Valentine's furnace has caused a good deal of talk about school houses, public schools and the manner in which public officials take care of the people's property. The school house near Roopsburg came in for its share of the talk. We heard several men say it was a disgrace to Benner township, that it was worse than a corn-crib, would not hold corn, &c. Why has not our County Superintendent aroused the Directors of Benner? A stranger traveling through Benner twp., would, upon seeing the school houses, declare without any hesitancy that he was in a Democratic township and that the school directors were all Democrats. If there is one good first class school house in that township, we do not know where it is. Except the turnpike is there a good road in the township? In these latter days we judge the character of the people by their public school houses and public roads. Is it any wonder that the Democrats carry Benner township by a majority ranging from 60 to 100? Would it not be a good idea for the Republicans all to move out of Benner and settle in Spring and make it a model Republican township. Or as "ye are the salt of the earth" would it be better, think you, to remain where you are, and aid the Democrats to build better school houses, to make better roads, and thus in the end make the township purely and largely Republican? For the sake of the children, we ask that they pay more attention to their schools and school houses. We are living in the 19th century.

Two good Houses for Rent—apply to Jno. I. Rankin.

AT a special meeting of the Washington Literary Society, held Feb. 27th 1871, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, God in his all wise providence, has seen fit to remove from our midst, Thos. H. Burrows, L. L. D., Honorary member of our Society, and President of the Institution, therefore be it resolved, Resolved 1st, That as members of the W. L. S., we do mourn for the loss in him of an Honorary member, who has always taken a deep interest in the welfare of our Society, and done all in his power to increase its prosperity.

2nd. That we as students, have lost in him not only an able President, but a kind and amiable friend who was at all times willing to aid us by wise counsel and by kind deeds.

3d. That we deeply sympathise with his family, whose loss so far exceeds ours.

4th. That as a testimonial of respect, the Society Hall shall be draped in mourning for thirty days.

5th. That a copy of the above resolutions be sent to the family, and that they also be furnished to the press for publication.

FOUNDRY.—It is with pleasure we call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Wm. P. Duncan, Esq., in another column of the Republican. Mr. Duncan having bought all the interest of John Todd, Esq., his former partner, is now prepared to continue the business upon a larger scale than ever before. He is prepared to manufacture all kinds of castings and to build engines from a three to a sixty-horse power. Indeed he makes a specialty of building Engines. Persons calling at the new Rolling Mill above the Glass works can see an engine of his build which cannot be surpassed in the State. Mr. Duncan is an enterprising man and deserves the patronage of the public. Do not go abroad for what you can get at home, is our doctrine.

A large Assortment of Envelopes can be seen at Rankin's.

FIRE.—The new free school house, near the Iron Works of the Messrs. Valentine & Milliken, in Spring township, caught fire on Wednesday night last, about 11 o'clock and was soon entirely consumed. The heater had been out of order for nearly a year; but no body paid any attention to it, and it is now supposed that the fire originated from this heator. This is rumor, so far as the origen of the fire is concerned. We are sorry this house burned down for it was one of the best school houses in Spring township. Indeed there was few if any better ones in the county. The tax-payers of that township and district are rich they can soon rebuild it.

WAR OF 1812.—The act of Congress, approved February 14, 1871, grants a pension of $8,00 per month to the surviving officers, and enlisted and drafted men, including Militia and Volunteers, of the Military and Naval Service of the United States, who served sixty days in the war with Great Britain, in 1812; or to their widows, "Provided, That such widows shall have been married prior to the treaty of peace which terminated said war, to an officer, or enlisted or drafted man, who served as aforesaid in said war, and shall not have remarried."

NEW GOODS.—Messrs. Forster & Devling, Allegheny street, near the old Conrad House, are every day receiving new goods, and they authorize us to say that they will sell for cash, cheaper than the cheapest. Having been in business here for nearly one year, they have established a reputation, which needs not our praise.

DIED.—On the 28th ult., at Unionville, Burton B. Winters.

The subject of this short notice, was in poor health for several years. He has now ended life's battle down at the river. There was nothing remarkable in his death, therefore, we turn to his life and here we need no preacher to tell us of his goodness, for we all knew Burton, and as he moved around and among us these words were on the lips of all, "behold an Isrealite in whom there is no guile."

I have heard him in the prayer-meetings in those mighty pleadings with God, when Heaven did come down. I have heard him often, in the class-room, testifying to the power of Jesus' blood to wash from all sin.

Could such a man die any other than the death of the righteous?

In the chamber where the good man meets his end, is privileged beyond the common walks of life, quite on the verge of Heaven. Although there was weeping in that chamber, they were the tears that came from loving hearts, and as the words "dear father," from lips about to impress a farewell kiss on that dear one so still in death, I said in my heart there will be a re-union, there will be unbroken families where there is no more death, for those who are worthy are as the angels of God.

Oh, may every member of this family be a good angel,

"And with the angels stand,"

and those lips immortal be the first (as they were the last) to meet "dear father," in that "beautiful world on high." Farewell Burton, it was yours to endure the cross for thirty years, it is yours to wear the crown for all eternity. Amen.

S. A. M.

AT a meeting of the Cresson Literary Society of the Agricultural College of Pennsylvania, held on Monday, Febuary 27th 1871, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, An all-wise and omnicient God has seen fit to call from earth our esteemed President, Hon. Thos. H Burrows, L. L. D., a kind and valued guardian, and an honorary member of our Society, therefore, be it Resolved 1st, That in the death of Dr. Burrows, we have lost one whose deep interest and ready counsel were always enlisted in our behalf, and whose bright example will ever remain in our memory.

2nd. That, while, we mourn his untimely death, we can truly feel that his calm and peaceful end, was but the harbinger of a happy entrance to the life eternal.

3d. That to the stricken family we extend our earnest sympathy, and fervently hope that the God whose crowning attribute is love, will comfort and support them in this trying hour.

4th. That the Society Hall be draped in mourning, in respect for his cherished memory.

5th. That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of the deceased, and, that copies be sent to the papers of Bellefonte and Lancaster for publication.

FIRE.—On last Wednesday night, about eight o'clock, the barn of M. P. Weaver, of Spring township, caught fire and was burned to ashes in less than one hour and a half. It is thought to be the work of an incendiary. The barn was insured for the sum of $2,500 in the "Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Middle Penn'a" represented in this county by Mr. C. R. Gearhart. This company insures nothing but property in the country. It keeps out of towns. Just the company we think, for farmers. We will see how punctual they will be in adjusting and paying Mr. Weaver's claim.

We know of no one more deserving of this than Mr. Miller. He is a thorough going business man, and doubtless will make rapid advancement in his new sphere.

MR. SAMUEL FELTY, will sell at auction, at his ware-rooms, in Pine Grove, on March 24th, his entire stock of furniture. Those in want of first-class bargains had better take notice. Bills of sale are already printed, and the public can see what inducements are offered. 3-10-2t

BOALSBURG, March 4, 1871.

MR. EDITOR:—Seeing an account in your paper, some time ago, wondering why the school teachers did not send in the news transpiring in their vicinity, and being a member of the profession, I now send you an account of an exhibition I had the pleasure of attending on Wednesday evening, March 1st. In company with several others, we left Boalsburg and proceeded to Fillmore, to attend an entertainment held in Sellars' School House, near that place. Arriving about 7 o'clock, we found the house crowded to its utmost capacity, and by the time the exercises were rightly commenced, there was not a square inch of the floor but what was taken up by somebody's feet. Seldom have we ever, in our visits, had the pleasure of meeting with such a lot of good looking and accomplished young ladies and gentlemen as attended Sellars school as pupils.

But why need we enlarge on the subject; we agree with the Director, who said on that evening, "he tried his best to procure a good teacher, so that he need not be visiting the school once or twice a week to keep things straight."—And we think he procured the best the county could afford, when he procured the services of G. W. Rumberger, Esq. Mr. Rumberger is one of the most experienced teachers in Centre county, having taught some eighteen years, and has taught his present school some seven terms in succession.

The exercise consisted of Essays, Dialogues, Declamation, select reading and the most beautiful singing we have heard for some time. Mr. Rumberger read a selection entitled, 'The Smack in School,' which caused many of the fair sex to blush and brought roars of laughter from the other side of the house. The next was an original Dialogue, entitled "The Squires Office," which could not have been better performed than it was.—(Whoever swept out the School House the next morning, we'll bet fonnd lots of buttons—your humble correspondent having lost a couple himself.) Constance H. Cambridge, Jr., was next introduced, who recited an Irish selection, entitled "Shamus O'Brien," in his own humorous style. The same piece was recited by Prof. Hull, at our County Institute; but it was the opinion of all teachers present, that Mr. Cambridge recited it as well, and by careful training and practice would far surpass Hull. We know there is not another teacher in the county that can command the irish brogue he can, and while portraying in eloquent language the "thrials" of Shamus, the moisture gathered in many eyes. Mr. Cambridge is one of Huston township's best teachers, being employed at Julian for a number of years as teacher of that school. He goes, we understand, at the close of his term, to Duff's Commercial College, Pittsburgh, and while there, purposes attending an elocutionary school in that city.

We hope when our next institute comes off, that we may have the pleasure of hearing the Messrs. Rumberger & Cambridge recite some of their side-splitting recitations, instead of the foreign aid we have been having.

After a smart drive we arrived at our journey's end, well pleased with our evening's entertainment. And in conclusion would say, Mr. Rumberger is the right man in the right place, and knows how to get up an exhibition. J. R.

B. V. BLACK, Esq., the enterprising proprietor of the "Bellefonte Meat Market," on Bishop St., having recently erected a new slaughter house with all the latest conveniences, his customers can rest assured that they are purchasing none but the most carefully slaughtered and choicest meats. The past winter Mr. Black put up over fifty tons of the best of ice, which, used in connection with his new and improved refrigerator, during the approaching warm season, his meats will be of the freshest and nicest, and as for quality none will hesitate to say that it is always of the very best, as Mr. Black being a judge of stock, buys only good young beef-cattle.

ANOTHER FIRE.—On Friday night last, the smoke house of our young friend Henry Pennington, nea Pleasant Gap, was burned. All the meat was consumed with the exception of two pieces. As there had been no fire in the smoke house for three days, the fire was evidently the work of an incendiary, who just stole all the hams and shoulders, beef &c., and then fired the building.

MUSICAL CONVENTION:—Messrs. Editors Republican.—I have carefully perused the columns of your most valuable paper, and have up to this time not noticed any mention made in reference to the most excellent Musical concert given under the auspices of the Lutheran Church at Pleasant Gap. It deserves a notice. Great credit is due to the committee, composed of the following highly respected gentlemen viz: A. J. Swartz and Jerry Echinroth, for the manner in which the programmes were arranged. We had the honor of listening to a group of the finest and best trained voices that it has ever been our pleasure to hear. Everything moved off pleasantly, and the best of order prevailed. I cannot refrain from speaking of the highly cultivated voices of Miss Ettinger, Mrs. Swartz and Miss Swaney, however it would be invidious in me to give names or make a destinction where the entire class proved themselves to be a credit to the vicinity. The church was very much crowded, and we learn a handsome sum was realized. Quite a number of ladies and gentlemen from Bellefonte were present, participating in the gay and cheerful festivities. Such a spirit of cheerfulness is condusive, I believe, to happiness of mind and health of body. Indeed there is no state of the mind more intimately connected with virtue, with moral and intellectual ingress, development and a healthy tone of the enure individual. It blends with all the affection, passions, sentiments and emotions of the soul, and throws over the entire character a glowing radiance which lights our pathway through the darkest gloom. In scenes of adversity and trouble, it sprinkles the heart with a sovereign balm, that heals the sorrows and afflictions of life, and brings the mind at peace, not only with itself, but with our fellow-beings, and all the circumstances with which we are surrounded.

But a person of a gloomy and desponding mind cannot be happy. The windows of the soul are closed to all the happy and hopeful emotions, which spring from a cheerful and buoyant heart. Such a mind indulges in sad and melancholy reflections which throw a shade of gloom over all the affairs of life. It turns even the pleasures and sources of happiness into trouble and adversity, and looks upon the dark side of the various scenes which embellish society, and impart a charm to the fair face of nature.

I firmly believe that if more attention was paid to music, either vocal or instrumental, more cheerfulness would be the result, as it ornaments the labors of the mind with wit and beauty, and imparts a charm to the language in which we cloth our ideas. In business and in the various avocations of life, and our relations to society, cheerfulness mingles with its ever-varying glow of happiness and pleasure, music lightens the burthens of life, banishes care, sorrow, grief, and gloom from the heart, dispels the clouds and darkness that hover over our minds, and sheds its genial rays on our pathway from childhood to the tomb.

Show me the man or woman who is habitually troubled with melancholy and I will show you the person who has no ear for music. Let them at once dispel the gloom from their minds. Let them sing and become cheerful. Join in the merry laugh and joyful glee, and they will become more happy in mind, more healthy in body, and wiser and better citizens to society.

LEVITICUS.

TO THE TRADE.—I desire to call the attention of the trade to my stock of lake fish, having, for the past thirteen years, made this branch of business a specialty. My stock, at this time, is the largest ever held in this city. I am prepared to furnish dealers, promptly, by the dray or car load, and have made arrangements for shipping by the car load, at special rates, from Detroit, Sandusky, Huron, Vermillion or Cleveland, and also from Pittsburgh to any points in Pennsylvania or Ohio, as shippers may with. I would also call the attention of dealers to my extensive assortment and stock of corn brooms, broom corn, and broom materials, all of which I can supply at very low rates.

THE PLACE.—It is pretty generally understood that the Messrs Harper Brothers, at their well known establishment on Spring street, sell goods as cheap as they can be sold, this side the great cities. Their store is always crowded and every day R. B. Wilson, with his express wagon brings them something new. They are always selling. Always ordering new goods. They are clever whole-souled men—the country could not do without them. See Advertisement.

THE citizens of Philipsburg are making a great effort to start a Y. M. C. A. The Journal is so confounded over the result, that it can't tell whether the institution is, or is not, and says it may be, or it may not be.
